Official documentation is in beta form and will be completed by spring 2007. The best definition of the word spam is any e-mail message whose intended purpose is to promote or sell a product or service. The Internet has made it easier for all of us to communicate to anyone in the world. However, e-mail is an activity of the past. We have mobile phones, and most people carry digital assistants. It's time to stop and think about what's in this e-mail, not just how it's sent. Why is my time-sensitive message not being delivered? Are there e-mail spam filters that block your messages? How do I block spam messages? Who's responsible for spam? Where do I find information about spam? How can I stop spam? What can I do about the spam I receive? What can I do to avoid receiving spam? What is the FTC's role in spam? What is email virus prevention? What can I do to keep my computer free of viruses and spam? What kinds of viruses and spam can my computer be attacked with? How do I remove a virus from my computer? What can I do to protect myself against viruses? What can I do to protect my children from receiving spam? What can I do to protect my family from the unwanted commercial messages? What if my spam arrives at my house? Why does my e-mail look different than the others I receive? What kinds of spam do I need to look out for? How do I tell when spam is unsolicited? How do I tell when spam is sent by a computer? How do I protect myself from mail bombs? What do I do if a spam e-mail bomb victim contacts me? How do I notify everyone I know of spam I receive? What is responsible for blocking spam messages? How do I ensure that a message I send is delivered? What is the difference between being sent spam and junk e-mail? How do I deal with spam sent to my phone? What is spam, junk e-mail, and junk fax? What are the risks associated with opening spam? What can I do to ensure that I receive only messages from people I know? How can I avoid receiving phone spam? What can I do to protect myself from unsolicited commercial e-mail? How do I determine the origin of the e-mail I receive? How do I
