FYI: it used to be about 0.75% on the first page and only 0.5% on the further page. But on our site, where we spend way less on ads than you do, the cost seems to be 1-1.5% on the first page. On the second, a bit less, on the third page, even less, and that's for a completely full page. Taking into account the time it takes to load the page and the additional load time due to the double click, you lose money here. Besides, if you have a double click, you have another click when you open the menu. (And that's if you're unlucky: you lose half the money on your second click.) Yandex isn't our only competition in the market, so naturally we do a bit of research...
